

Heroes

Night falls and it covers the sun

The guns blaze and the people run

And they're begging and they're crying in the dirty streets

And the kings in the towers, they go back to sleep

But do you, think that there's someone who can stand tall

Bring us together and fight for all

Bring the world into the sun

'Cause I try, to be that hero but I fall down

Can't do this on my own, and I don't know how I could be the one, so I'm saying

I'm not the hero that you're looking for

Can't end the night and I can't stop this war

But I'm alive, I've got my voice and this guitar

And maybe I can hold the darkness back one second more

And maybe I can give the world, one second more

So lights go out, but the skies, they burn
Great waves fall as the ocean turns
While the lords in golden houses play with silver toys
They turn their heads away from a world destroyed

And no one, can face the darkness they just go on Pretend that someone will just bring back the things forever gone
But we can't find that hero

So come down from your city on the hill
If we don't save our own lives, then no one will Look at your fellow people, and take their hands, 'cause
You know this is our only chance, and I promise you

We'll never find the hero that we're looking for
Just ordinary people in a twilight storm
You can watch it from your window, you can turn away
Or just try to be the heroes, for just one day
And maybe we can be the heroes, we need someday
